

Animal division

Yusuke Takehana (PhD, associate professor)

Research area: Genetics, Developmental Biology

Research interests: Evolution of sex determination mechanisms in fish

Genome editing reveals molecular mechanisms of sex determination in medaka fishes

Gene knock-out

Sex-determining gene

♀

♂

Our main model system is small fishes called “medaka” native to Asia. They show extremely diverse sex determination systems, and are a good model for elucidating their evolutionary mechanisms by genetic approaches.